Snow Leopards

There are many beautiful cats in the world. People usually think of tigers, lions and cheetahs as some of the most interesting and beautiful big cats that live in the wild. Most people don't know about snow leopards.

Snow leopards live in cold places in the mountains. They can be found in some Asian countries, such as Mongolia, Nepal and China. Their fur is white and gray with black spots on the head and neck. They also have large spots called rosettes on their back, which are very pretty. Snow leopards are around 150 cm long with a long tail. They weigh around 55-75 kg.

Like many big cats, snow leopards are *endangered, which means there are not many left. Scientists worry that someday, they will disappear from the earth. The global population of the snow leopard is around 10,000, but this number is expected to go down by 10% by 2040.

There are many reasons why the snow leopard is in danger. The biggest reason is that people kill the animal for its fur and body parts. They are not allowed to hunt snow leopards, but they break the law. These people are called *poachers, and they are a big problem for many endangered animals.

Global warming is another reason snow leopards are in danger. When the air gets warmer, more snow melts, and the snow leopard has a difficult time finding a home in the snowy parts of mountains.

The world must work hard to protect the snow leopard. It is a beautiful animal, and it would be sad to see it disappear.

TOPIC

Which do you like better, reading books or watching TV?

Answer the question and give TWO reasons. You must write 25 words or more.

I like watching TV better than reading books. I have two reasons for this.

First, TV can show us real pictures and sounds from the world. Books only have words on paper. Second, it's fun to watch TV together with my family or friends, but books are difficult to share. For these reasons,

I like watching TV better than reading books.
