From: Mika
To: Ms. Taylor
Subject: International Fair at school
.....

Hello Ms. Taylor,

How are you? I hope you are doing well at your new school. We miss you at our school in Kyoto. It feels like a long time since I was your student.

Anyway, I am writing to tell you about our school's international fair last Saturday. Many people from foreign countries like France, South Africa, and Mexico came to our school and cooked many different kinds of food from their countries. The food was delicious! I liked Mexican food the best!

Also, I spoke to many foreigners in English. I am not good at English, but they understood me. It was a great chance for me to practice and improve my English. Someday, I want to talk with you in English.

Best regards,
Mika

From: Ms. Taylor
To: Mika
Subject: Re: International Fair at school

Hi Mika,

It was great to hear from you. I'm doing well, and I enjoy teaching at my new school in New York. However, I miss you and all the students at your school. I am planning to visit Kyoto next year. I hope I can visit your school then.

Your international fair sounds very interesting and fun! It is wonderful that you tried so many different types of food. Believe it or not, Mexican food is my favorite, too.

Good job! I'm proud of you for speaking English to many foreigners. I agree that it was a nice opportunity for you to improve your English skills. Keep studying hard and do your best always!

Sincerely,
Ms. Taylor

People love to play and hear music on the piano. Pianos are in many homes, schools and buildings, but does your city have pianos on the street?

On March 16, 2018, a street art project came to Kunitachi City, in Tokyo. The project used ten pianos. They were regular pianos, but they did not go to the regular places. They went to city spaces such as parks and streets. Each piano had a message in English painted on the side. The message said, "Play Me, I'm Yours." How fun! Anyone could play the pianos and enjoy live music. These were street pianos.

The idea for street pianos belongs to one man, Luke Jerram. He is an artist in the UK. In 2007, he planned the first "Play Me, I'm Yours" street piano project, and it was very popular. People of all ages played the pianos. People stopped to listen and sometimes they sang. The street pianos brought people together, and the city became a friendlier place.

Soon, other cities wanted street pianos, too. According to the street piano website, Luke Jerram has put over 19,000 pianos in 60 cities around the world. Artists in each city paint the pianos in bright colors.

In Kunitachi City, the street art project continued for two weeks. In that time, 60,000 people enjoyed the street pianos. One day, you may see a colorful "Play me, I'm Yours" piano in your city. Will you stop and play?

Q1) Where will you NOT find a "Play Me, I'm Yours" piano?

- A) On the street.
- B) In a park.
- C) In a city space.
- D) In a home.

Q2) What is Luke Jerram's job?

- A) He is an artist.
- B) He is a piano player.
- C) He is a singer.
- D) He is a street person.

Q3) What does the message "Play me, I'm Yours" mean?

Q4) What year did Luke Jerram plan the first street piano project?

Q5) How long was the "Play Me, I'm Yours" street art project in Kunitachi City?
